Subject: PM response to questions posed by the LSRO reduced risk expert panel

As you all know, PM has commissioned the LSRO to conduct a scientific review with the primary objective of determining how to assess the potential of PREPs to reduce health risks. As part of that effort, the LSRO has requested that PM provide information to be considered as part of the overall information the panel will consider in implementing their task. The information they seek is in the questions posed in the attached document.

We are in the process of planning how we are going to provide the information the LSRO has requested. We have determined that all of the non-proprietary information requested by the LSRO can be covered either in existing presentations that have been given recently in various public venues and/or in "round table" discussions. We have made initial selections of the PM team that will provide the information. Each of the persons in this distribution was suggested to be a part of the team either because they are subject matter experts in one or more of the areas noted in the attached document and/or because they have recently presented similar information in other public venues.

There are two upcoming Core Committee meetings that we are considering attending for the purpose of providing information that the LSRO seeks. One is on July 15, 2005 the other is on Oct. 14-15, 2005. I anticipate that the meetings would be at the LSRO in Bethesda, MD and take most of a day with travel the evening before the meeting. Return travel would be the same day of the meeting. Would each of you check your respective calendars and see if you could possibly attend a meeting on any or all of the above noted dates and let me know as soon as possible? Please note these dates could change as a result of planning activities on the part of the LSRO. For now, however, these are the dates we have to work with. I will let you all know where we stand as plans get more firm.
