³²⁸⁴ Mansell takes IndyCar race at Michigan track

BROOKLYN, Mich. — Nigel Mansell ignored the bumpy track and shrugged off a raging headache to hold off teammate Mario Andretti and win Sunday's Marlboro 500 at Michigan International Speedway.

Mansell, running only the second 500-mile race of his career, took the lead from pole-sitter Andretti on the 28th lap and led all but two of the last 221 laps, including the final 167.

The victory was the first in 77 Grand National starts for Leslie.

Winston Cup veteran Terry Labonte rallied from three laps down to take third, with Burton coming home fourth. Pole-sitter Ernie Ivan was the fastest car on the track much of the night, but his Chevy blew an engine on lap 151.

SOUTHAMPTON SPEEDWAY: In Capron, Va., Steve Steeley of Elizabeth City, who won 15 races last season in the Limited Sportsman class, gained his first victory of 1993 in the Late Model Sportsman feature Saturday night at Southampton Speedway.

In other races, Speck Edwards of Capron won the Limited Sportsman class, Johnny West of South Mills, N.C., won the Limited Stock event, David Daughtry of Jarratt, Va., took the Mini-Stock event and Chesapeake's Lonnie Renfro won the Hobby Stock class.
