Dear Mr. Harlow:

Many thanks for your letter of December 18.
We were all most happy to have you in Detroit and to show you some of the work of the Institute and College of Medicine.

Some of the problems in connection with development of a larger program in chemotherapy were mentioned while you were here. I regret to say that it has not yet been possible to find a satisfactory solution to these problems. We are still hopeful that a completely satisfactory method may be worked out for handling the situation, and that we may have an opportunity to discuss an expanded program with you in the near future.

Cordially yours,

William L. Simpson
